Big Dam Will Boom Farming

Huge Project in Nebraska Holds Wealth for Three Counties

OGALLALA, NEB.—Formal dedication of the Central Nebraska (Tri-County) Public Power and Irrigation district's Kingsley dam and McConnaughy lake marked another step in the development of Nebraska's hydro-electric projects commonly known as the "Little TVA."

Located near Ogallala, Kingsley is the second largest earth dam in the world, exceeded only by Fort Peck dam across the Missouri river. The dam proper is 2½ miles long. It is slightly less than a quarter mile thick at the base and is 162 feet high.

Into its construction went more than 26,000,000 cubic yards of earth, sand and gravel. Had the material for the fill been hauled by railroad, it would have required 378,200 cars, or a train 3,782 miles long.

Water backed up by the dam forms McConnaughy lake, named after one of the fathers of the project. The lake covers 32,000 acres, has a 105-mile shore line and will store 2,000,000 acre feet of water.

Holds Reserve Waters.

The lake will act as a "reserve savings bank," where precious Platte river water will be conserved. Only water which previously has gone down the river unused will be stored.

The dam and lake also will serve as flood checks, capturing in times of high water the flow that otherwise would go downstream to threaten floods along the Platte, Missouri and Mississippi.

The reservoir, canal, power and irrigation facilities of the Tri-county encompass parts of seven counties. A main supply canal 76 miles long leads to an irrigation system consisting of almost 800 miles of canals and laterals. On the main canal are located three hydro-electric plants, two large regulating reservoirs and 26 so-called "lakes."

Partial Tri-county irrigation already has produced corn crops up to 81 bushels an acre on land which, before the coming of water, had yielded sporadically.

Systematized crop rotation and specialization in corn and alfalfa under irrigation will bring a great expansion in livestock production, feeding and dairying. A farm income increase of $10,000,000 annually is expected, together with tremendous gains in population, building and trade.

Electricity a By-Product.

The electric production and transmission facilities of two Loup river and Platte valley projects are coordinated with the Tri-county systems to achieve two aims:

1. Conserve the life-giving waters in Nebraska so that a maximum will be available for irrigation.

2. Produce electricity as a by-product and market it economically to serve homes, farms, industry and national defense needs.

Water released from McConnaughy lake first produces electricity in from two to four hydro plants on its way to irrigators. Sale of this power helps pay for the irrigation system, making it possible to deliver water to farmers at lower cost.

Storage in McConnaughy lake started last February 9, reaching its peak of 180,000 acre feet on June 21. That water now is being released for the Tri-county's first summer irrigation program.

British School Children Rent and Cultivate Farm

MAYFIELD, SUSSEX, ENGLAND. — The pupils of Mayfield school have started a farm.

They rented a field for $50 a year, plowed it for sowing and then bought rabbits, ducks, pigs and sheep.

They also have a market garden and the whole venture is paying so well that the children—none of them older than fourteen—are planning to buy another field next year for wheat.

The boys made all the huts, needed for stock, in the carpentry class at school. When the chickens were due, the girls carried the eggs into their classroom and hatched them in incubators.

Aluminum in His Teeth; One Teapot Lost to U. S.

DANVILLE, PA.—Mont W. Knarr was bothered with his false teeth so he and a fellow mechanic melted down an aluminum teapot and made a new pair.

Knarr declares his new set of teeth are far superior to the old ones and several dentists who viewed the homemade teeth said they were almost perfect.

Fish Clubbed to Death; Self-Defense Plea Wins

BOYNE CITY, MICH.—It is all right to kill a fish with a club in self-defense.

Youngsters playing on a Lake Charlevoix beach spied a pike, floating lazily. One of the boys touched the fish and it clamped its teeth in his hand, tearing the flesh. The boys pounced on the pike and beat it to death. It weighed 17 pounds.

Conservation officers said they would overlook the incident.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL
SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

THE HOLY SPIRIT OUR HELPER

LESSON TEXT—John 3:5-8; Acts 1:8; Romans 8:26-28; Galatians 5:22-26.
GOLDEN TEXT—As many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.—Romans 8:14.

Nothing could be more practical or blessed for and in the life and service of the believer than an understanding of the person and work of the Holy Spirit; yet it is a subject concerning which most Christians are woefully ignorant.

Before taking up the work of the Spirit as it appears in our lesson, we should understand that the Holy Spirit is a person, not an influence, which may exert itself upon a servant as a power which a man may obtain and use. He—the Spirit—is one of the Trinity, with the attributes of a person, doing the work of a person and always referred to as a person in Scripture. (When "it" is used of the Holy Spirit in the A.V. it will be found to be correct to "him" in the R.V.)

What then does this divine person do? The work of creation was His as one of the Godhead. He regenerates, He teaches, He comforts, He fills with gifts and qualifies Christian workers, He is the divine author of the Bible. These and many other things He does, this One who indwells the believer as the ever-present Guide and Counselor. The Christian is

I. Born of the Spirit (John 3:5-8). The new birth is indispensable to entrance into the kingdom of God. We either enter that way or we do not enter at all. Let's be clear about that. "Ye must be born again" is not the edict of a church or the plea of a preacher; it is the plain statement of our Lord Himself (v. 5).

The Holy Spirit is indispensable to regeneration. We must be born of the Spirit. How it takes place we can no more explain than the coming or going of the wind, but just as the power of the wind is known to us by clear evidence, so the regenerating power of the Spirit, mysterious though it be in operation, is known to us by the evidences of regeneration in a man's life.

II. Empowered by the Spirit (Acts 1:8).

Spiritual birth calls for service for Christ. For that we must have the power of the Holy Spirit. A man may do many ordinary things in the strength of his own body and mind (although even these ought always to be under the Spirit's control), but when he comes to witnessing for Christ, teaching or preaching God's Word, he must have the Holy Spirit power or he is utterly ineffective.

III. Directed by the Spirit (Rom. 8:26-28).

The guidance of the Holy Spirit, especially in the matter of prayer, is stressed in these verses, but they are a part of a longer passage dealing with the indwelling, enabling, and guiding power of the Holy Spirit (read vv. 9-14). Every detail of life in the home, at business, or in social relations should be in conscious submission to His leading.

It is in the realm of the spiritual, however, that we find ourselves peculiarly infirm (v. 26), and this shows itself especially in prayer—"we know not how to pray as we ought." Then the Spirit in the Christian makes intercession. How blessed! The practical meaning of these profound words seems to be that the Spirit, by His immediate influence in the saint's soul, which becomes as it were the organ of his own address to the Father, secures the rightness of the essence of the saint's prayer. To our understandings such intercessions with groanings which cannot be uttered, take the form of desires of ours, inspired and secured by Him. In any special case of prayer, the saint may or may not use words; but anywise the root-desires that underlie the prayer, being the Holy Spirit's promptings, are unutterable to the full. He, I say, the heart the Father sees below the surface of our ignorance the sacred longings which are the expression of the Spirit's influence" (H. C. G. Moule).

IV. Walking in the Spirit (Gal. 5: 22-26).

Being born again of the Spirit, living daily by the Spirit, it is right that (as v. 25 puts it) "if we live by the Spirit, let us also walk by the Spirit." The works of the flesh, horrible in their wickedness and lust, are listed in the verses preceding (vv. 19-21), and then by striking contrast we have the fruit of the Spirit in the life of the Christian. Note the distinction: Work is something we produce; fruit is some thing that grows.

Walking in the Spirit the Christian finds in his life the inward graces of love, joy, and peace. These then express themselves outwardly in longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, and self-control. The Spirit-filled man is not only a good man; he lives a good life.

When a Child Needs a Laxative!

Your child should like this tasty liquid laxative and you should like the gentle way it usually wakes up a youngster's lazy intestines when given by the simple directions.

SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT contains the same principal ingredient which has enabled its older brother BLACK-DRAUGHT to give so many users such satisfying relief for so many years!

Perhaps that's why it usually gives a child such refreshing relief when the familiar symptoms indicate a laxative is needed.

SYRUP OF BLACK-DRAUGHT comes in 2 sizes. The introductory size is 25c; the economy size is 50c.

Miss Virginia Cawthorne Bride of Walter Luppy In Panama, Oct. 1st

At a pretty wedding ceremony performed Wednesday evening, October 1st, at 8 o'clock, in the Pedro Miguel Union Church, Balboa, Panama, Miss Virginia Cawthorne, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Cawthorne, of East Orange, N. J., formerly of Appomattox, became the bride of Mr. Walter Luppy, of Balboa, Panama, son of Mr. Joseph Luppy, of Irvington, New Jersey, and the late Mrs. Luppy. The Rev. H. Christy Schjeveland solemnized the marriage in the presence of a small gathering of friends.

The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of Easter lillies and Shasta daisies arranged on an arch of white star jasmin and green foliage before which the young couple exchanged their vows.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Charles G. Calvit, of Balboa, in the absence of her father. She wore a stunning wedding dress of white marquisette over taffeta fashioned with long tapering sleeves, a sweetheart neckline and a deep yoke of French lace. Her full gored skirt fell into a long train. She wore a tiered wedding veil of silk net held in place with a dainty wreath of white flowers and carried an arm garnitas imported from Columbia, S. America.

Following the ceremony a wedding reception was held at Hotel Tivoli for the wedding party and a few close friends.
